BIO

Trevor Owens is a transformational speaker who has presented speeches and trainings to over five thousand people across the United States. Trevor's keynote speeches are unique because they include live music on violin and piano to inspire and entertain.

Trevor started learning both violin and computer programming at age eight. Trevor now lives in Seattle, WA and in addition to speaking enjoys two thriving careers: one as a software engineer at Google and the other as one of Seattle's most sought-after violinists for private events.

Trevor's violin playing has been broadcasted to over one million people on platforms including Amazon Alexa and KIRO 7 News in Seattle, WA.
